Your Little Ones, Dear Lord, Are We Trinity's Track & Field Day!

News and Updates

Softball Tournament: The fifth graders enjoyed being the leaders of the school on Tuesday when the 6-8th graders went to Mankato for our annual softball tournament. It was a great day for an outside sport! The kids played above themselves all day and even came away with a strong win in their last game. #veryproud #jumpingpicture

Religion: In our first Christlight lesson, God used an Israelite servant girl to tell her unbelieving master, Naaman, about God and his power. In our second lesson, Jonah at first refused to preach in Nineveh, but then he obeyed God's call, and the Nineties repented.

English: We studied the rest of the steps which will help us write our research report. When we finished studying them, we wrote an evaluation essay on the effectiveness of the steps and how we think they will help us write our reports. On Friday, we began research for our reports. The students are expected to have steps 1-3 prepared for Monday.

Reading: The Wind in the Willows: Week 2 of Literature Circles was very unique. We had a number of students out with sickness and in WI for the Seminary Call Service/LPS Graduation. It didn't tell the students what to do and let them figure out how they would cover for Reminders...

- Track & Field day will be held at the high school track again this year. We will be taking a bus over to the track at 9:00 on May 27. The meet will start ASAP. If you plan on attending, you'll want to bring a lawn chair, shade tent, sunscreen, water, and a cold lunch. The schedule of events can be found on our website under "Athletics". The bus comes to pick us up at 2:30 so we'll have to wrap things up before then.
- Check with your child every other night about their Literature Circle role. Make sure they are ready for discussion.
- Stay strong to the end!

the students missing. They decided it would be best for each of them to take on a little extra work so that they aren't missing anything from the story. It was cool to see them take the initiative on this one.

Math: The 5th graders studied area, found common denominators to help them add, subtract, and compare fractions, and divided decimal numbers by whole numbers. The 6th graders revisited writing percents as fractions, played softball, tested, and learned how to calculate compound interest.

Social Studies: I was very pleased with their results from the South region. They must have had a good teacher in 3-4th grade. This week's study of the Midwest went just as smooth. They seem to be enjoying themselves as we play around the world. The other teacher can vouch for me on that one :)

Science: We studied light and color this week. We looked at the primary colors of light and compared them with the primary pigment colors. We also studied invisible light and read about the electromagnetic spectrum. The students are very happy to be done with their last Science worksheet of the year!

Picture Caption: On Thursday, 33 Pastors were given their first assignments into the public ministry. We were able to watch the broadcast live as Justin Pomije (a member of our congregation) was called to serve at Our Savior Lutheran Church (Gaylord, MI) and Hope Lutheran Church (Indian River, MI)! Yes, that is two parishes!
